

ANNUAL RCFL CONFERENCE

October 26-27, 2004 ~ Hyatt Regency Crown Center
Kansas City, MO

“Building Computer Forensics Capacity Nationwide”

Who Should Attend?

The RCFL Conference is open to any government official currently employed by a local, state, or federal law enforcement agency. To gain admittance, everyone must present their credentials at the conference site.

The Conference Agenda:

Conference participants will learn about:

- ◆ The present and future of the Program
- ◆ The in's and out's of the RCFL site selection process
- ◆ ASCLD/LAB accreditation – What it takes to be successful.
- ◆ CART certification – What RCFL examiner candidates can expect
- ◆ The latest forensic examination tools in computer, audio and visual; electronic devices and testing and validation; National Software Reference Library (NSRL)
- ◆ The differences between a task force and an RCFL

In addition, participants will hear a moderated panel discussion about the challenges and trends facing the computer forensic community and the impact on the RCFL Program.

To register for the conference, go to:

www.rcfl.gov

To obtain more information about the conference or the RCFL Program, call the National Program Office on (703) 902-5502, or send an e-mail to info@nationalrcfl.org. There is a $10 materials fee that can be paid on site.

The RCFL Program:

America's Premier Computer Forensics Laboratory Network

REGIONAL COMPUTER
FORENSIC LABORATORY
NATIONAL PROGRAM OFFICE